BEAL-DUARTE RECITE VOWS SATURDAY NIGHT

In a simple ceremony performed Saturday evening in Central Evangelical United Brethren Church, Leonard J. Beal Jr. took as his bride Miss Ophelia Duarte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duarte, of 1157 W. 225th street. Rev. H. Wesley Roloff officiated in the presence of 100 guests. Miss Frances Duarte, in orchid velvet and carrying yellow roses, was her sister's maid of honor. Other bridesmaids were the Misses Betty Locke, who wore a blue gown and carried red roses; Lillian Milares and Mary Tapa, whose gowns were of pink crepe. They carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Festival at Normont Is Successful

The May Day Festival held at Normont School Friday afternoon attracted a large audience of parents and friends of the school children as they told the story of the California Gold Rush and early history of the state in costume and pantomime. Highlighting the parade was the covered wagon team by the kindergartners with ten wagons taking part. Manned by their drivers and old-fashioned girls as they wheeled around the large circle they sang the ever-popular "Buttons and Bows." In true early California spirit then came Indians complete with feathers and rhythmic dances bent on capturing the 'white.' Climaxing the pantomime the Indian Chief made friends with their captors and all ended well.

First graders portrayed the California forests, hewing of the trees and building of homes for the settlers and the children of second grade carried out the gold mining era. The entire festival was complete with square dancing as the climax came to the school's first festival. Richard Hooper and Jerry Woolfords were callers. Carol Ash and Dale Guston were announcers during the program and Dr. George Weeks, music instructor at Narbonne High School, assisted with several student drummers helping with the tom-tom drumming.
